

O que beber neste Natal?

What to drink this Christmas?

better than a good Alvarinho. As I mentioned in an article a few months ago, 2015 was a top year for the Minho region and especially for the Alvarinho grape, but I found that when the wines were launched onto the market at the beginning of this year, they were not yet ready for drinking, but they are now.

The main label Soalheiro Alvarinho, priced at €9.99 in Apolónia, is an excellent example and has enough structure to pair well with starter dishes such as smoked

So that's bubbles out of the way. Next we need a white to serve with starters and what salmon. It's well worth buying a few bottles now before it all flies off the shelves and is replaced by the 2016 which has just been released, and no doubt will need some time.
